(PhilGEPS No. 10530153)

Government of the Republic of the Philippines

Sixth Edition
July 2020

Preface

These Philippine Bidding Documents (PBDs) for the procurement of Goods through Competitive Bidding have been prepared by the Government of the Philippines for use by any branch, constitutional commission or office, agency, department, bureau, office, or instrumentality of the Government of the Philippines, National Government Agencies, including Government-Owned and/or Controlled Corporations, Government Financing Institutions, State Universities and Colleges, and Local Government Unit. The procedures and practices presented in this document have been developed through broad experience, and are for mandatory use in projects that are financed in whole or in part by the Government of the Philippines or any foreign government/foreign or international financing institution in accordance with the provisions of the 2016 revised Implementing Rules and Regulations of Republic Act No. 9184.

The Bidding Documents shall clearly and adequately define, among others: (i) the objectives, scope, and expected outputs and/or results of the proposed contract or Framework Agreement, as the case may be; (ii) the eligibility requirements of Bidders; (iii) the expected contract or Framework Agreement duration, the estimated quantity in the case of procurement of goods, delivery schedule and/or time frame; and (iv) the obligations, duties, and/or functions of the winning bidder.

Care should be taken to check the relevance of the provisions of the PBDs against the requirements of the specific Goods to be procured. If duplication of a subject is inevitable in other sections of the document prepared by the Procuring Entity, care must be exercised to avoid contradictions between clauses dealing with the same matter.

Moreover, each section is prepared with notes intended only as information for the Procuring Entity or the person drafting the Bidding Documents. They shall not be included in the final documents. The following general directions should be observed when using the documents:

- a. All the documents listed in the Table of Contents are normally required for the procurement of Goods. However, they should be adapted as necessary to the circumstances of the particular Procurement Project.
- b. Specific details, such as the “name of the Procuring Entity” and “address for bid submission,” should be furnished in the Instructions to Bidders, Bid Data Sheet, and Special Conditions of Contract. The final documents should contain neither blank spaces nor options.
- c. This Preface and the footnotes or notes in italics included in the Invitation to Bid, Bid Data Sheet, General Conditions of Contract, Special Conditions of Contract, Schedule of Requirements, and Specifications are not part of the text of the final document, although they contain instructions that the Procuring Entity should strictly follow.

- d. The cover should be modified as required to identify the Bidding Documents as to the Procurement Project, Project Identification Number, and Procuring Entity, in addition to the date of issue.
- e. Modifications for specific Procurement Project details should be provided in the Special Conditions of Contract as amendments to the Conditions of Contract. For easy completion, whenever reference has to be made to specific clauses in the Bid Data Sheet or Special Conditions of Contract, these terms shall be printed in bold typeface on Sections I (Instructions to Bidders) and III (General Conditions of Contract), respectively.
- f. For guidelines on the use of Bidding Forms and the procurement of Foreign-Assisted Projects, these will be covered by a separate issuance of the Government Procurement Policy Board.

Section VII. Technical Specifications

Notes for Preparing the Technical Specifications

A set of precise and clear specifications is a prerequisite for Bidders to respond realistically and competitively to the requirements of the Procuring Entity without qualifying their Bids. In the context of Competitive Bidding, the specifications (e.g. production/delivery schedule, manpower requirements, and after-sales service/parts, descriptions of the lots or items) must be prepared to permit the widest possible competition and, at the same time, present a clear statement of the required standards of workmanship, materials, and performance of the goods and services to be procured. Only if this is done will the objectives of transparency, equity, efficiency, fairness, and economy in procurement be realized, responsiveness of bids be ensured, and the subsequent task of bid evaluation and post-qualification facilitated. The specifications should require that all items, materials and accessories to be included or incorporated in the goods be new, unused, and of the most recent or current models, and that they include or incorporate all recent improvements in design and materials unless otherwise provided in the Contract.

Samples of specifications from previous similar procurements are useful in this respect. The use of metric units is encouraged. Depending on the complexity of the goods and the repetitiveness of the type of procurement, it may be advantageous to standardize the General Technical Specifications and incorporate them in a separate subsection. The General Technical Specifications should cover all classes of workmanship, materials, and equipment commonly involved in manufacturing similar goods. Deletions or addenda should then adapt the General Technical Specifications to the particular procurement.

Care must be taken in drafting specifications to ensure that they are not restrictive. In the specification of standards for equipment, materials, and workmanship, recognized Philippine and international standards should be used as much as possible. Where other particular standards are used, whether national standards or other standards, the specifications should state that equipment, materials, and workmanship that meet other authoritative standards, and which ensure at least a substantially equal quality than the standards mentioned, will also be acceptable. The following clause may be inserted in the Special Conditions of Contract or the Technical Specifications.

Sample Clause: Equivalency of Standards and Codes

Wherever reference is made in the Technical Specifications to specific standards and codes to be met by the goods and materials to be furnished or tested, the provisions of the latest edition or revision of the relevant standards and codes shall apply, unless otherwise expressly stated in the Contract. Where such standards and codes are national or relate to a particular country or region, other authoritative standards that ensure substantial equivalence to the standards and codes specified will be acceptable.

Reference to brand name and catalogue number should be avoided as far as possible; where unavoidable they should always be followed by the words "or at least equivalent." References to brand names cannot be used when the funding source is the GOP.

Where appropriate, drawings, including site plans as required, may be furnished by the Procuring Entity with the Bidding Documents. Similarly, the Supplier may be requested to provide drawings or samples either with its Bid or for prior review by the Procuring Entity during contract execution.

Bidders are also required, as part of the technical specifications, to complete their statement of compliance demonstrating how the items comply with the specification.

In case of Renewal of Regular and Recurring Services, the Procuring Entity must indicate here the technical requirements for the service provider, which must include the set criteria in the conduct of its performance evaluation.

GUIDELINES IN PACKING AN ARTWORK FOR SHIPMENT

PACKING AND SHIPPING ARTWORKS

Shipping an artwork involves various handling stages, from customs inspection to transportation, until it reaches its destination. Efficient packing is essential when shipping an artwork to keep it in the best condition. Proper packing protects the artwork from damage, enduring shocks, vibrations, and other environmental factors during handling and transit. Different packing styles and techniques are suitable for different kinds of artwork. Understanding the medium and dimensions of the artwork is essential to determine the most suitable packing style and technique for safety. Securing the artwork safeguards its condition, preserving its artistic and monetary value. Proper packing is a requirement for shipping. It must be labeled and documented to facilitate a smoother customs clearance process and reduce delays and risks of theft and mishandling.

Some things must be considered when packing an artwork, such as frame and size. Framed artworks can be shipped in boxes, while unframed can be rolled and shipped in tubes. Small to medium-sized artwork can be shipped in corrugated board boxes; larger artwork is best in a crate for maximum protection. Always ensure that the artwork is professionally packed and well-safe for shipping. It is best to seek a courier specializing in handling valuable art pieces.

PACKING STANDARDS

Use suitable materials and pack artwork properly. Following the appropriate materials and packing guide may ensure the safety of artwork, prevent damage during transit, and arrive at the destination in good condition.

TOOLS AND PACKING MATERIALS

Prepare tools and materials needed to pack artworks appropriately:

Tools

1. Marker or pen
2. Measuring tape
3. Cutter and scissors
4. Gloves

Materials

1. Packaging tape (avoid using duct tape and scotch tape): Use a good quality packaging tape (brown or clear packing tape), and masking tape to secure and protect objects from moisture; and you may use a masking tape for putting together paper materials. It will also ensure the package is closed throughout the transit.

2. Acid-free glassine paper: Acid-free or archival quality paper is necessary for wrapping artwork for storage or shipping. Glassine is PH neutral and does not cause chemical reactions with the art object and is resistant to air, water, and grease.

3. Plastic wrap/ Cling Film: Plastic wrap or Cling film can help protect artwork from dirt, moisture, and scratches. It may also be used to hold two or more objects together.

4. Bubble wrap: Adequate bubble wrap or foam sheets cushion the artwork from impact, vibrations and may be used to fill spaces to prevent movement in the packaging.

5. Foam boards: Foam boards or Styrofoam boards are ideal for packing and storing flat artwork. It is a lightweight material available in varying degrees of thickness that can be easily cut. Use foamboard of at least ½" thickness. It is recommended to support artworks for shipping.

PRELIMINARY PREPARATIONS

Before packing, make sure to do the following preparations:

1. Clear the working area and remove dust and dirt. Prepare the flat and stable surface with a protected material to avoid scratches.
2. If framed, secure that the artwork is secured and stable.
3. Document through forms and photographs the condition and visual appearance of the artwork before packing. This documentation will serve as supporting document if the artwork sustains damage in transit and needs to make an insurance claim.
4. Measure the artwork to decide the type of box, tube, crate, or container needed. Choose the appropriate box that provides 2 inches of clearance on all sides. If necessary, custom boxes may be crated to fit the artwork.
5. Calculate the dimensional weight of the artwork. This may help in estimating the shipping costs. (You may use online calculators from shipping companies to calculate the dimensional weight.)

PROCEDURE FOR PACKING AN ARTWORK

Be careful and gentle in packing artwork. Prepare it appropriately with glassine, plastic wrap, bubble wrap, foam board, and cardboard to avoid scratches and scrapes. Use gloves when handling the artwork.

1. For artwork with glass frame, it is important to protect the glass from breakage. Use a masking tape to form an X or asterisk pattern on the glass (two X shapes that overlap at the center) or a tight layer of plastic wrapped around the glass. The tape or plastic wrap will keep the glass in place and will prevent punctures in case the glass breaks during transit.

2. Use glassine paper to protect the artwork from moisture and dust. Cover all edges and sides, and use the masking tape to hold it together. If rolling an artwork for shipping in a tube, use glassine as protection on painting and leave at least 2 inches larger on all sides.

3. Cover the artwork with two layers of bubble wrap. The flat side should face the artwork, and bubbles face outwards to avoid impressions on the artwork. Make sure all the artwork's surfaces, edges, and corners are covered in bubble wrap. Use packing or masking tape to secure the bubble wrap at the back of the artwork. Make sure that it is packed neatly and fairly tight.

4. Place the bubble-wrapped artwork between half inch thick foamboards for additional protection. You may tape the foam boards together to secure the artwork effectively.

5. Pack the secured artwork in the customized box board and seal the box with packaging tape. Make sure the box board is thick enough to protect the artwork. Avoid using cellophane tape since it's not sturdy enough for transportation. Use heavy duty and high-quality packing tape.

6. Crate if necessary: Custom-made wooden crate is a standard in shipping artwork internationally. Crates must fit the artwork's dimensions and size to fix it tightly and prevent compaction. Wood and plywood are usually used for crates to protect artworks from changes in environmental conditions and guarantee the object's intactness during the long transit.

7. Filling Voids: Use bubble wrap or foam to fill the voids in the crate to prevent possible movements. Avoid using packing peanuts since they will likely to settle at the bottom and leave the top edges unprotected.
8. Labels: Label boxes with FRAGILE or HANDLE WITH CARE where they can be easily seen to inform that the package require extra care during transportation. Attach labels with sender and recipient details with contact information. (See Figure 10)

9. Prepare a packing list with details and materials used. Prepare necessary customs documentation for international shipments.

Proper packing and securing the artwork for shipment or traveling is essential to safeguard the artwork during travel to minimize the risk of damage from various factors. Take the time to follow the guidelines to ensure your artwork reaches its destination in the same condition it left. The package needs protection from the risks it may encounter while in transit. Attention to detail and investing in quality packaging materials are essential to safeguard the artwork during shipping.
